To whom it may concern,

Through all the years I had Mark as my teacher, I never once felt like he was simply going through the motions and showing up for work. I truly believe that Mark is incapable of such a thing – he has an inherent passion for music that he loves to share with others. Mark can take something seemingly mundane and transform it into something truly beautiful, by which he always pushed me to explore new depths of technical and emotional self-expression. Through his teaching, Mark has become much more than just a music teacher to me; he has taught me valuable lessons about life that I will carry with me always.

With decades of teaching experience, Mark has developed an innate ability to nurture a wide variety of students with varying abilities. Despite his expertise, he always approached our lessons with the utmost humility, treating me as an equal rather than as a student to be lectured to. Whenever he introduced a new concept or idea, he did so with the excitement of a friend who has discovered something new and wants to share it with you. Mark's infectious curiosity is impossible to resist, and I always found myself eager to learn more. Mark is not only an exceptional teacher but also an incredible musician. He has a natural ability to tap into a deep well of creativity that is effortlessly expressed in his superb technique.

Looking back on the years I spent with Mark, I feel a deep sense of nostalgia and gratitude. I cannot recommend him enough as a teacher – he is truly one of a kind.
